Oleg Solodukhin
CEO of dxFeed

Oleg Solodukhin is the CEO of dxFeed. He has 20+ years of experience in the Financial and Information Technology industries.

Despite extremely challenging circumstances, dxFeed—with Oleg at the helm—managed to boost revenue by 45% during the 2021 crisis.

This continued the strong trend of total revenue growth of over 560% since January 2016, highlighted by double-digit growth each year.

- 20+ years in Information Technology
- Joined as PMP-certified Project Director in 2008 and later CEO of dxFeed data division
- Leads operational strategy, new business development, and key relationships
- Held previous roles at Philip Morris International
- Holds degrees in applied mathematics and time series forecasting

Oleg is proud to be a member of the Forbes Business Council, one of the leading organizations to support the growth of and networking opportunities for successful business owners and leaders worldwide.